This hilarious farce comes from comedy master Ken Ludwig. Two British actors are so down on their luck they are stranded in the States performing in Moose Halls and Elks Lodges. Reading in a local paper about an ailing old lady searching for her long lost relatives to leave her fortune to, they plan to pass themselves off as her beloved nephews and get the cash. Trouble is, when they get there they find out that the relatives aren't nephews, but nieces. Undaunted, they bravely don dresses and hilarity ensues.

This is Ranjit Bolt's new translation of Molière's 1664 classic comedy of lust, deceit and false piety. Tartuffe is a religious hypocrite who capitalizes on the piety of others to line his own pocket. He convinces the wealthy Orgon to hand over his daughter in exchange for divine absolution even as Tartuffe attempts to satisfy his rogue's lust for Orgon's wife. Caught most desperately in the middle of the charlatan's scheming is the desirable but dutiful wife, Elmire, whose comic booty trap is a legend of theatrical comedy.

Based on the hit film and incredible true story, this high-flying musical comedy is about chasing your dreams and not getting caught. Frank Abagnale Jr. runs away from home and, with nothing more than his boyish charm, a big imagination, and millions of dollars in forged checks, successfully poses as a pilot, a doctor, and a lawyer – even as FBI agent Carl Hanratty is hot on his trail. With a book by Terrence McNally and a score by Marc Shaiman and Scott Wittman, the high-energy chase is on!

Get in the holiday spirit with a fun family musical adaptation of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol, written by Leslie Bricusse. Ebenezer Scrooge, who is rich, stingy, and mean to his loyal employee Bob Cratchit, gets a rude awakening on Christmas Eve. The ghost of Scrooge's old business partner, Jacob Marley, pays him a visit, informing him that he is going to be visited by three ghosts: Christmas Past, Present and Future. Will the result be a kinder, gentler Scrooge?

The defense and the prosecution have rested. The jury is filing into the jury room to decide if a young man is guilty or innocent of murdering his own father. What begins as an open and shut case is soon derailed by the courage of one juror. This drama explores each juror's prejudices and preconceptions about the trial, the accused and each other, in a spellbinding play about justice, empathy, morals, the law and the value of human life. How will they reach consensus to decide one boy's ultimate fate?

In a 1930 Berlin nightclub, a garish master of ceremonies assures the audience they will forget all their troubles at the CABARET. But the emcee's bawdy songs are wry commentary on the dark, heady, and tumultuous life of Berlin as Germany slowly and scarily yields to the emerging Nazi Party's Third Reich. Two love stories emerge, a young American writer smitten by an English singer, and an older boarding house proprietor who begins a romance with a mild-mannered fruit seller, but has second thoughts when she realizes he is Jewish. This vibrant musical includes such memorable songs as "Cabaret," "Willkommen" and "Tomorrow Belongs To Me."

One of classical music's enduring riddles is why Beethoven devoted four years of his diminishing life (and hearing) writing 33 variations of a rather uninspired waltz. Two hundred years later, a modern-day music scholar is driven to solve the mystery even as her own health and relationship with her daughter crumbles. Moises Kaufman (The Laramie Project) wrote this passionate play that simultaneously explores the composer's creations and the struggle of the musicologist. The drama is enhanced by a live pianist playing the variations.

This fun coming-of-age musical is about discovering that “cool” is sometimes where we least expect it. Following his parents’ divorce, Evan Goldman is plucked from his fast-paced New York life and plopped into a sleepy Indiana town. Surrounded by “judgey” middle school students, he needs to establish his place in the popularity pecking order. Can he situate himself on a comfortable link of the food chain or will he dangle at the end with the outcasts? With an unforgettable rock score by Jason Robert Brown, this tale is about Fitting In and Standing Out.

THEATRE INFORMATION

- Seats are assigned according to the date orders are received at the box office. We do our best to accommodate seating requests. You must specify in advance if you need handicapped seating – limited wheelchair accommodations available.
- Current subscribers must renew by August 15, 2019 to receive priority seating. New subscriber orders will be filled after August 16.
- Single tickets for all shows will be on sale August 19, 2019 and orders will be filled at that time in the order they are received.
- Please note that tickets are NOT refundable. Sales are FINAL.
- Exchanges are allowed only for subscribers, and only for the same show. You MUST notify us of the exchange prior to your scheduled show time.
- All patrons older than 24 months must purchase a ticket.
- Dates, times, and events are subject to change.
- A senior citizen qualifies at age 60 and up.
- Patrons receive the regular student rate at any age as long as they are students somewhere.
- MCCC faculty, staff, and students with ID ticket price only $9 per show.
- Kelsey Theatre is handicapped accessible. Large-print programs are available on request.
